

The Center for Civic Participation at Portland Community College
Presents

DISCUSSION FORUM

“Accountability and PCC”

Be part of the conversation

Rock Creek: Tuesday October 22nd 3-5pm; RC TLC

Sylvania: Monday October 28th 11-1pm; TLC

Cascade: Tuesday October 29th 3-5pm; SC 201

CCP@PCC is part of a broad movement to create alternatives to polarized, adversarial, and polemical conversations. We NEED all points of view brought to the table, but expressed within a structure that helps people listen and learn across their many differences. These forums are crafted to help participants engage in deliberation and dialogue.

About the topic: the term “Accountability” has been increasingly used to express the need for more controls and oversight in the educational process. At PCC, faculty, staff, students and administrators are “held accountable” by a variety of internal and external institutional processes.